

KYLPY

When bathing, we as humans become deeply immersed in our environment, changing together and flowing as one.

As a friend of the water; as a relative.

Kylpy (in English, a bath) is a contemporary dance performance carried out in a swimming pool, offering a new, positive approach to moving in water and being in the pool.

In Kylpy, the audience is welcome to view the performance from in the pool or along the edge. There's also a short water movement activity for tuning in into the performance. All the activities are voluntary for the audience.

Kylpy will be performed in November 2021, at Kuntokeidas Vesipekka; a local indoor swimming pool in Raahe.

Instructions:

Ticket selling will finish 20-minutes before the showtime, so please arrive the latest at that time!

Bring a bathing suit with you. We also recommend bringing goggles and a towel or a bathrobe.

If you choose to view Kylpy from the edge of the pool without joining in the pool, we kindly ask you to walk through the shower section to wash your feet before coming to the pools. The temperature is very warm and humid at the pools, so it is recommended to dress accordingly and to bring a water bottle with you.

There will be an assistant at each show, ready to help out the audience!
